GLADSTONE IMPROVING.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF CZAREWITCH PLEASES JEWS.

The Westphalian Strike Trouble—Workmen Determined to Have Their Parade in Spite of Orders to the Contrary—Funeral of the Grand Duke Nicholas.

LONDON, May 13.—Mr. Gladstone is progressing favorably and the fever is greatly abated.

THE JEWISH PERSECUTION.

A Vienna dispatch says some of the Jews in that city are not slow to evince their satisfaction at the distress of the Russian imperial family owing to the attack on the Czarowitch and aver that it is a just retribution for the frightful calamities inflicted on the Jews by the Czar's government. In Warsaw the police arrested several men who were disseminating the news in exaggerated form, to the effect that the Czarowitch was dead. The Austrian Emperor has telegraphed his condolence to the Czar, with an anxious enquiry as to the latest news of the Czarowitch's condition. The Austrian authorities in Galicia have been ordered to repress sternly any exhibition of satisfaction with the occurrence, but groups of people in Cracow lined the streets last night talking over the event with evident satisfaction. Cracow is full of Jewish refugees and there was no concealment of delight at the blow which had fallen on the household of the autocrat. This feeling is not so strange when it is remembered that according to latest advices the roads from Moscow to the frontier were strewn in some places last week with the remains of the aged and of infants who had perished from hardship.

THE WESTPHALIAN STRIKE.

The leaders of the strike at the Westphalia mines, who were put under arrest when the strike movement began, have been released without trial. Mines are in such a dilapidated condition that prosecution in large quantities will not be possible for several days to come. Government inspectors are busy examining mines and ascertaining, what, if any danger exists. The workingmen of Bochum, not engaged in coal mining have subscribed a sum of money for the benefit of poorer miners, who in the midst of plenty are actually starving. The surrender of miners is due to this fact. Dr. Brassert, who is charged with administration of mines, is quoted as saying that the safety of mines is nowhere more carefully attended to than in Germany, to which reason that country is comparatively free from great mining calamities.

To-day's dispatches state that great excitement exists in Brussels. Workingmen are determined to hold their parade, in defiance of city authority and the burgh master is equally stubborn. The troops are in readiness to suppress any outbreak; the Gens d'Armes having spent all night under arms. The working people of Ghent are out in force to-day and similar demonstrations are reported in various cities of Belgium. The troops on the Belgian frontier adjoining France have captured a large quantity of circulars printed, it is thought in England. These circulars appeal to the people to strike a blow for liberty and not be any longer slaves of oligarchy.

GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS' FUNERAL.

The funeral of the Grand Duke Nicholas was one of the most splendid exhibitions of the kind witnessed in Russia. The body was saluted by 100,000 troops on the way to St. Petersburg. The Czar's court is now in double mourning. The remains of Nicholas were interred in the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul. The illegitimate children of the late Grand Duke (four in number) have been taken under the special protection of the Imperial Houses and will be trained accordingly.

PORTUGAL'S FINANCES.

The desperate financial situation of Portugal has been impending for many months. Miguel bond holders who have tried to discredit the Portuguese Government by every means in their power are rejoicing over the result of their work. Portugal is virtually driven for the present from the great stock markets of Europe and her best securities are without an offer of purchase. It is said that King Charles has offered for the present to give up his income from national sources until such time as Portugal will be better able to pay. As the Queen is wealthy both by descent and bequest the King's offer should it be accepted, would not involve him in poverty.

Iron Workers to Strike.

BRUSSELS, May 13.—It has been decided by a committee of the workingmen's delegates from various branches of the iron industry of the country to order a general strike of iron workers throughout Belgium.

Politicians have Got It.

LONDON, May 13.—Joseph Chamberlain and Lord Hartington are down with influenza. There are now 70 members of the House of Commons suffering from influenza.

Madame Blavatski Burned.

LONDON, May 11.—The body of Madame Blavatski was cremated to-day. It is reported here that Mrs. Besant will succeed her as high priestess.

THE M'GREEVY SCANDAL.

Mr. Tarte Makes His Charges in the Commons—Referred to a Committee.

OTTAWA, May 11.—The much talked of charges of misappropriation of the public money, brought against the Hon. Thomas McGreevy, M.P., were fully ventilated in the House to-day, when Mr. Tarte moved a resolution that a committee be appointed to enquire into the conduct of the member for Quebec West, concerning certain contracts in Quebec and elsewhere. Although not specially mentioned, the Minister of Public Works, Sir Hector Langevin, is implicated in the scandal, the department of which he is the head, being specially interested in it. Mr. Tarte in his impeachment said that he could prove that since 1882 the department had been sold to public contractors by McGreevy. The latter used his influence as a member of Parliament and a harbor commissioner of Quebec against the public interest, to secure a Government contract worth $375,000 from the Quebec Harbor works. Mr. McGreevy gave his double influence and for the sum of $25,000, and taking in as partner his brother Mr. Robert McGreevy, he secured the contract to Larkin, Connelly & Co., Quebec. These contractors also subscribed $1000 to a testimonial fund for Sir Hector Langevin. When the Government started the Esquimalt graving dock, the Quebec contractors asked Mr. McGreevy to help them. He aid so, and by means of his friendship with the minister, managed to obtain figures and calculations from the Public Works Department which secured his friends the contract. Robert McGreevy was again taken in as special partner, with a share of 20 per cent. in the profits. The contractors made large sums, and a share was handed over to Mr. Thomas McGreevy. The latter procured additions and alterations, which enabled the firm to make increased profits. In 1886-87 the contract for dredging the Harbor of Quebec was again secured by Mr. McGreevy for his friends, and the firm paid out $30,000 to have McGreevy elected to Parliament. Other minor jobs were entered into which Mr. McGreevy engineered and received large amounts as his share. Unfortunately, about this time the two McGreevys quarrelled, and Robert, in revenge, gave the whole thing away, and turned over to Mr. Tarte a quantity of the most compromising correspondence. According to Mr. Tarte, Mr. Thomas McGreevy has received from the contractors $200,000 since he has been a member, and Sir Hector Langevin is also shown by the contractors' books to have received large sums. The Government has paid out $500,000 on these works, half of which has been diverted from its proper channels. At the conclusion of Mr. Tarte's remarks, Sir Hector Langevin put in a general denial, as did Mr. McGreevy, the latter declaring the charges to be a tissue of falsehoods, and letters bearing his name to be forged. The matter was referred to the Privileges and Elections Committee, and will doubtless be sifted through. It is likely Sir Hector Langevin will be able to clear himself.

NANAIMO NEWS.

New Government Offices—The 12th of July—To Get a Stone Crusher.

NANAIMO, May 13.—Mr. M. Bray, Government agent, has applied to the Government for a new office as the accommodation in the present one is insufficient to meet the requirements. The present office is attached to the gaol, and is one of the oldest buildings in the city. It consists of police court, chief constable's office, collector of taxes, inspector of mines and Government agent's office, the last three are all in one and on the lower floor. The present office could be utilized by the police and would be of great service to them. The Government possess a piece of land upon which the new court house has been built and at the back of this another large building could be erected without spoiling its present appearance.

ORANGEMEN'S DAY.

The members of the Loyal Lodge of Orangemen have collected a large sum towards the sports which are to take place on the "Green" on July 11th. On account of the 12th of July falling on Sunday, it is the intention of the lodge to hold the processions on Saturday, July 11th. There will be eight other lodges present on this occasion, and each will be accompanied by a band, so that the procession is anticipated to be a large one. The banner of the Nanaimo lodge is a pretty one, and is looked upon with pride by the members. This lodge has grown rapidly of late, and it is believed in the course of another twelve months it will in numbers compare favorably with the older lodges in British Columbia.

THE ROCK CRUSHER.

Alderman Baker has been working hard to obtain a stone crusher for assisting in making roads throughout the city, and has succeeded in getting a by-law through for the purchase of one at about $5000. The by-law will be submitted to the ratepayers on May 28th for their ratification. It is hardly possible that the citizens will vote against it, as it is essential that a machine of this kind should be purchased for the use above named. The making of roads in Nanaimo is a task that few men would care to undertake as the material is not of the best, but with a stone crusher it can be nicely finished off, besides assisting greatly in building the road.

ACCIDENT AT NORTHFIELD.

A miner employed at the Northfield mines met with a slight accident yesterday while engaged at his work, by a piece of coal striking him on the foot. Dr. Praeger was telegraphed for, and promptly responded to the call; on examining the man he found the foot was bruised, but not to any serious extent. He will probably be about again in a few days.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

The assault case which occurred at the Half Way House on Sunday last, has been amicably disposed of, and defendants bound over to keep the peace.

Mr. J. Hoviebur, secretary of the M. & M.L.P.A., has received an order for $190.25 from the Miners' Society of Black Diamond, Wash., towards the support of the locked out miners.

Thursday afternoon closing of stores will come into operation on June 4, and it will be observed by all the storekeepers in the city.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

LIST OF U. S. AGENTS FOR THE SEAL ISLANDS COMPLETED.

Elk Lodge of Newark Sustains John L. Sullivan—The Publisher of a Weekly Newspaper Gets Horsewhipped by Miss Daisy Beverley—Suicide in Chicago.

Austin, Pa., May 13—The excitement attending the late forest fire is gradually subsiding, but on the streets may be seen many men whose hands and faces bandaged, and singed hair and other ill usage proclaim them survivors of the fire. Others are being cared for at the boarding houses and homes, and are not able to be out, and some never will be out. No other subject is talked of but the terrible fire and the ill-fated train. The burned regard their escape as miraculous. The missing men have have not been found yet, and it may be a week before a complete list of the victims will be made known. The only dead body found was that of Supt. Badger. The following is a partial list of the injured and burned: Fred Snow, Fred Polman, Pat Farrell, P. Weld, W. Winter, N. W. Weathersby, William Darbyhear, Jas. Walsh, Frank Doran and John Burns, all seriously burned. Winter and Weathersby are not expected to recover. A Swede named Geo. Brine and a Hungarian named Andrew Mikklin, were also fatally burned. Pat Doyle had a knee fractured in jumping from the train; M. E. Brown face burned; T. Busholdy, Andy Burke, Charles Pickett, Clarence Barden, Chas. Christenden, J. H. Mills R. Hutchens and several Hungarians, names unknown, all more or less burned. The above number are all residents of this town. Throughout the entire district the number of injured and burned will reach 100.

United States Agents for Seal Islands.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Secretary Foster compelled the selection of government agents to represent the United States at Seal Islands this season, and they will sail on the Rush from San Francisco as soon as they can reach that port. The party consists of Major Williams, special agent in charge of the Seal Islands, J. Stanley Brown, special treasury agent, who will complete the work begun by Prof. Elliott, Milton Barnes who will be in charge at the Islands of St. George; and S. R. Vehlton and wife, who will assist Major Williams on the island of St. George. Mrs. Vehlton will teach school. Mr. Barnes was only appointed yesterday. He was formerly Secretary of State of Ohio. The original date fixed for the sailing of the Rush was May 14, but as the party could not be got together in time, the Rush has been ordered to await their arrival, when she will sail. She now has her sailing orders and all other instructions are in the hands of Commander Williams.

An Editor Horsewhipped.

CLEVELAND, May 13.—Editor A. E. Hyre, who publishes a weekly newspaper called the Cuyahogan, in Brooklyn village, a suburb of Cleveland, was horsewhipped by Miss Daisy Beverley, near his office, at about 6:30 last evening. Miss Beverley has had histrionic ambitions, and Hyre has held her up to pretty severe ridicule in his paper. He visited Cleveland this evening and on his return found Miss Beverley and her father waiting for him near his office. Miss Beverley struck him several times over the head with a snake whip before he succeeded in imprisoning her hands, when her father knocked him down and held him, while his daughter continued to whip him. A crowd gathered around and took the girl away. Daisy had starred in a "Silver Bird" company.

Charges Against Brother Sullivan.

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Newark, N.J., lodge of Elks met last night in that city and heard a report of the committee intrusted with the investigation of the charges against John L. Sullivan, who was elected a member of the lodge last year. The committee sustains Sullivan, and says that Haddon's charges against him consisted only of newspaper clippings. It is understood that Haddon proposed to prefer, or already has preferred, charges against the Newark lodge for electing Sullivan, and that he stigmatizes Sullivan as being unfit to be an Elk. Nine members of Newark lodge, it is said, have been appointed a committee to depend the lodge at Cleveland.

An Abbe Sued for Libel.

MONTREAL, May 13.—A Filiatrault, editor and proprietor of Canada Revieu, who allows his subscribers to use his extensive library, has been accused by Abbe Gosselin, editor of Semaine Religieuse, of distributing immoral literature and is denounced as a public poisoner. Filiatrault has entered action against the abbe for criminal libel. It is stated some of the highest ecclesiastical authorities will be called as witnesses, including Cardinal Taschereau and Archbishop Fabre.

The President's Tour.

LINCOLN, Neb. May 13.—The presidential train arrived 9:15 a.m. and was greeted by a large and demonstrative crowd. Whistles were blown, bells rung and cannons fired. There was an abundance of flowers and bunting. The president responded graciously to an address of welcome and after staying 45 minutes the train proceeded for Omaha.

Suicide in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 13.—A man supposed to be John J. Evans, of Riverside, California, suicided here this morning by cutting his throat with a pocket knife. In his pockets were found a deposit certificate on the Riverside National Bank for $100, also the name of Mrs. J. J. Evans, his wife. It is supposed she is here also and the police are looking for her.

Thought it was Whiskey.

PALMERO, Cals., May 13.—John P. Cummings died last night from the effects of poison. He drank a photographic chemical solution found in a bottle in a field while at work. He supposed it to be whiskey. Richard Suehan was also poisoned but recovered.

THE HALCYON.

The Mysterious Schooner now due—U. S. Customs Officers on the Lookout.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Advices received here by the Australian, which arrived yesterday, says that Whaley's yacht, Halcyon, may be expected on this coast at any time. She left Honolulu ostensibly for Victoria, B. C., but customs officers here have little faith in this open declaration that the Halcyon's destination is the port of Victoria or any other port for that matter. They feel sure that efforts will be made to land the illicit cargo at some out of the way place, and in anticipation of this suspicion additional guards are to be placed along the main shore at Half-Moon Bay, at Monterey Bay and other favorite resorts for smugging crafts. Advices by the Australia say that Whaley had been living in magnificent style in Honolulu for several months. According to advices the Halcyon is now due and an attempt may be made to land her cargo almost any day or hour.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

Matters of Interest Going Forward in the Sporting World, Here and Elsewhere.

THE RING.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Interest in the Jackson-Corbett contest is increasing in the east as well as in this city, and if all promises are kept several prominent sports from New York and other big cities beyond the Rockies will be at the ring side when the two big fellows face each other. Jim Wakeley will be about the first of the eastern contingent to arrive. He left New York yesterday and took with him a pool of between $6000 and $7000, which he intends to place on Corbett. Wakeley states that he will also bet $2500 of his own money if he can get odds of ten to six from the Jackson men. Wakeley and others, who have been led to believe that two to one against Corbett may be had in this city for the asking, will be surprised to find when they reach here that the betting is exceedingly light on the match, and what little is being indulged in is being made at level money or at the slightest shade of odds in Jackson's favor.

As usual on Sundays, Jackson and Corbett were visited by a large number of persons yesterday, and the supporters of either man were well satisfied with the progress the boxers were making. Corbett is rapidly building up, and a physician appointed by the California Athletic Club to make periodical visits to the training quarters of both men, states that he found Jim much stouter and sturdier-looking than on his last visit. Jackson's injured ankle, while still slightly swollen, does not interfere with his work, and as it is improving every day, Peter expects it to be thoroughly sound by the evening of May 21. In other respects Jackson appears to be all right.

JIMMY WHIPS JIMMY.

JERSEY CITY, May 11.—The great fight between Jimmy Larkins, of Jersey City, and Jimmy Hagan, of Philadelphia, was decided to night in favor of the former. Jack Fogarty threw up the sponge for Hagan in the fourteenth round, and Referee Jere Dunn awarded the fight to the Jersey City man, who thus won the 122-pound championship and the Granite Association $1300 purse.

CARROLL VS. MITCHELL.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Jimmy Carroll, of Brooklyn, has an idea that he can "do up" Charles Mitchell. Yesterday he authorized Arthur T. Lumley to make a match for him with "English Charley." If possible Carroll's preference is for a finish fight for a purse before some responsible athletic club. He thinks, however, that there would be a stack of coin in a 10 or 20 round in public for the gate receipts. Carroll weighs 190 pounds. He would fight at about 175. He says two weeks notice will be sufficient for him to get into trim. He desires the match to be at catch weights.

THE TURF.

KENTUCKY DERBY SPORTS.

RACE TRACK, LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—Derby day broke cold and threatening, but shortly before noon the hovering black clouds gave way to warm sunshine, and when the bugle called the contestants to the post for the inauguration race, the stands, lawn, betting ring and free field were filled with an eager, pushing crowd. A conservative judge estimated the number of visitors at not less than 2000. The track is fast.

The Derby was won by Kingman, Balgowan second, High Tariff third.

BASEBALL.

The following players have been nominated as the team to hold the Amities standard against the Port Townsend Colts on the 23rd: Borthwick, Hannon, Robinson, Meade, Jackson, Widdowson, Gouge, Burnell and Franklin, besides several good substitutes. There is some good stuff in this team to meet an equally good set of opponents, so that no mean display of the game is looked forward to.

CHURCHMAN REPLIES.

To the Editor.—"Catholic" must not forget that he is both a scholar and a gentleman. As the one, he should, when asked, have given his text for the assertion that "the Anglican Church was founded by St. Paul," and as the other, he should recollect that coarseness and abuse furnish no argument. Neither should "Catholic" wander from the points of controversy, to indulge in old exploded slanders, about Popes and Jesuits, which have been shown, time and again, to be false, nor attribute the 277 executions, which he says occurred, in Queen Mary's reign, to the Popes and Cardinals, when as a scholar he knows that they were wholly and solely due to the civil power. If "Catholic" wishes to tell about the martyrdoms of the Reformation, he should say something about the thousands who were slain for their faith by the direct order and authority of the new head of the church, King Henry VIII, and his son and younger daughter Elizabeth.

To take up the points which I promised in my last letter to discuss, I commence with Magna Charta, and acts of Edward II. and III. which undoubtedly assert that there was a Church of England. But the Church of England then, meant simply that part of the Universal or Catholic Church, which was in England, and in which the universal authority of the Pope was acknowledged. The church taught the same faith that was taught throughout the world and acknowledged the head that was universally acknowledged. It was altogether a different thing from what was set up by Henry VIII. Magna Charta says that "the Church of England shall be free, and shall have all her whole rights and liberties inviolable." What was the reason of this concession to the church? King John had tyrannically meddled with the church, and interfered with her administration, and the stipulation was that the church should be free from such meddling on the part of the King in future. This passage from Magna Charta so far from shewing the identity of the church with the modern Church of England, proves them to be altogether different institutions, for the modern church is the creation of a king, and is always subject to the reigning monarch as the "supreme head" thereof; whereas the stipulation in Magna Charta is that the church is to be free of the headship, or management of the sovereign. At the front of the barons who extorted Magna Charta from King John was Stephen Langton, a Cardinal of the Catholic Church, a prince of the church, under the Pope. Who ever heard of a cardinal in the church of King Henry VIII.? It is only about a year ago, that the English papers mentioned the finding of Stephen Langton's remains with the features in an almost perfect state of preservation, and entombed with him, his vestments, his crozier, his chalice and his paten. How would those emblems of popery fit the Church of England to day?

While King John was on the Throne of England the Provincial Council of London held in A.D. 1200, in its first canon ordered the prayers of the mass to be recited distinctly, and without precipitation, and the second canon ordains that the "communion of the blood at the first mass" should be received with care, so that drops may not remain in the chalice, but the 31st article of the modern Church of England calls "sacrifices of the mass" blasphemous "fables and dangerous deceits." What was King Lucius, the first Christian king, but a Roman Catholic? Venerable Bede, the great historian of the ancient Church of England, says, "Lucius, King of the Britons, sent a letter to him (Pope Eleatherius) entreating him that by his command he might be made a Christian." The Llandaff annals, called "The book of Llandaff," says, ch. 1, "the Pontiff received a letter from Lucius, a King of Britain, that he might be made a Christian by his command." We are then told that Eleutherius sent Elfan and Medwy as ambassadors; that the ambassadors were received into the church, and returned, Elfan being made a bishop, and Medwey a teacher, and that Lucius and the nobles received baptism by command of Eleutherius. The Anglo Saxon Chronicle gives the same account of the matter. This occurred about A. D., 180. Gotcelinus tells us that in their discussions with St. Augustine, the British bishops declared that their observances of Easter "were authorized by the Holy Eleutherius, their first founder."

In one of his letters "Catholic" alludes to the fact of the presence of British bishops at the council of Arles, A.D. 314. The allusion is quite accurate. They were present, and they subscribed the decrees of that council, which was attended by the Pope's legates. The decrees "salute the Pope with reverence," and are communicated to the Pope "that these may be made known to all, by him who holds the mightiest diocese."

At the council of Sardica in 347 British bishops were again present. There Osius, the Pope's representative, presided; the Pope is called the head, Rome is declared to be the See of Peter, and it is said that the bishops of every province should have recourse to that See.

Quotations might be multiplied, but space does not permit, else it would be interesting to go into the establishment of the Saxon church, by Gregory the Great, under St. Augustine.

The case of Wycliff furnishes no instance against the Pope's authority in England. On the contrary, Wycliff was the Warden of Canterbury College, Oxford, and being removed from that office by Langham, appealed from such removal to the Pope, who dismissed his appeal, and was, as a consequence, immediately denounced by Wycliff, as antichrist. In 1382, Wycliff retracted his errors, and in the presence of the archbishops, six prelates and a large concourse of theologians and other witnesses, read a profession of his faith in the tenets of the Church of Rome. He was seized by his last illness whilst hearing mass on the feast of the Holy Innocents, and died A.D. 1384.

Regarding the question of Anglican orders, the Church of England would not be the true church, even if she had valid orders. As a fact hardly any of the religious bodies which have revolted against the See of Peter, besides the Anglican establishment, have had their orders disallowed by the Catholic Church, but with the Anglican body it seems clear that their orders are null and void.

Until the Act of Uniformity, passed in the reign of Charles II. clergymen officiating in the established church, required no ordination at all. Macaulay tells us that "according to the system as expounded by Cranmer, the king was the spiritual as well as the temporal head of the nation. It was unnecessary that there should be any imposition of hands. The king might, in virtue of authority derived from God, make a priest; and the priest so made needed no ordination whatever." "Catholic" refers to the Lambeth register, in proof of the consecration of Archbishop Parker, upon whose ordination all others depend. Now, the Lambeth register, if not an utter forgery, has been proved by documents of unquestioned authority now treasured in the British Museum, to have been changed and altered beyond recognition. The best opinions go to show that some kind of a ceremony was conferred upon Parker by Bishop Barlow, whose own consecration is more than doubtful. The opinion held by Barlow in the matter of orders, shows how utterly he despised anything of the kind. This is what he says: "If the King's grace, being supreme head of the Church of England, did choose denominate, and elect any layman, being learned, to be a bishop, that he be so chosen, without mention made of any orders should be as good a bishop as he, or the best in England.—Strype's Memorials, vol. 1, p. 154. Thus it will be seen that the efficacy of orders was wholly repudiated by Cranmer and the founders of the Reformation, and authentic memoirs show that they used to refer to them as "greasy orders." However, a change has come over the Anglican Church since then, and we find that that body is now anxious to claim what her founders repudiated.

The invalidity of Anglican orders was brought out when Horn, one of Elizabeth's Letters Patent bishops, tendered the oath of supremacy to Bonner, and Bonner refusing the oath pleaded that Horn was not a true bishop. The law subjected Bonner to severe penalties for refusing the oath when tendered by a lawful bishop. But when, upon being prosecuted for not taking the oath, he pleaded that Horn was not a lawful bishop, his plea was held good, the prosecution was dropped, and the renowned statute, 8 Eliz., Cap. 1, "An act for declaring the making, and consecration of the Archbishops and Bishops of this realm to be good, lawful, and perfect," was passed, to cure the illegality which could not be denied, or covered up. I gave you the full text of that famous statute in a former letter. Dating from that statute, and by force of its provisions, but not otherwise, the Bishops of the Church of England are lawful Bishops.

AN ESSAY ON MATRIMONY.

TO THE EDITOR.—My motto is: "Let us have faith in the destiny of our common country, and put our trust in God."

Just fancy yourself in a girden of roses,
Where nought interposes, but that which is green;
Where beauty and love together reposes,
And the rose and lily together are seen.

Though that which we fancy may oftimes be blasted,
And those may deceive us whom we think are true;
Yet hope from ages eternal hath lasted,
Against every storm that misfortune hath blew.

One of the most difficult social problems that beset and embarrass us in the settlement of new districts of our country is the almost total separation of the sexes. Men shrink from asking women to share the rough life and privations attendant the settlement of new districts, and to share their isolated lot. While I will refer to our own settlement of Alberni, it is in no manner different from other new settlements. The majority of our settlers are living without wives. Dozens of sober, honest, industrious men, who would gladly marry, but where are the women? Those with whom they were raised and acquainted remain in the place where they were born, and I presume if, like myself, they should pay your fair city a visit, seeking a wife, they would be regarded much the same as a wild beast loose among a flock of sheep. Victoria is doubtless a pleasant city in which to live, but it is not possible, nor yet is it desirable, that all our people should live in the city. The skies are as fair in Alberni as in the city, and the flowers bloom as sweetly and are as lovely to look upon, and in the course of a few years we will have one of the loveliest valleys in America in which to live, "Where the ever-blooming roses spread their fragrance on the air." But how to wife our men? A matrimonial bureau or intelligence office would be the right thing, but who is to establish it? The Women's Christian Association might do it, or perhaps the time of our members of parliament might be better employed, instead of continually tinkering with and amending the laws, until neither man, beast or devil can understand them. Perhaps I ought to except the lawyers and beg their pardon, but I won't. The great importance of this subject to myself, and to our common country, is my reason for asking you to publish this. I have the honor to remain yours very truly, R. PINKERTON.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!

STOP IT NOW,

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when glad Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

WHITE ROCK, B. C.

This Townsite is situated on Semiahmoo Bay, and is the only deep water seaport between the International Bounday Line and Vancouver, B.C. It will probably be the Mainland starting-point of the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway. It is now the outlet for the finest agricultural district in British Columbia.

The C.P.R. has made a survey of a line from Vancouver direct to this point. The Royal City Planing Mills Company has built a substantial wharf here, and has established a lumber yard, which supplies the farmers of this district. A handsome Hotel has been erected and building is going on rapidly. Several influential and far-sighted corporations have acquired large tracts of land surrounding this Townsite.

GILMORE AND McCANDLESS CLOTHIERS & HATTERS

SUITS TO ORDER

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

Since the formation of a union amongst the tailors in Victoria prices for clothing have advanced to such an extent that people are sending East for their suits. And we don't blame them, either, if they can save from $10 to $20 a suit. We pay union prices simply because we have to; not that we consider it right.

We were paying our men the same wages before union prices were enforced that we paid them ten years ago, when we received from ten to twenty per cent. more for our suits.

We have from ten to fifteen thousand dollars invested in tailoring, and we propose to turn it over at least twice a year, regardless of profits. To do this we will make suits cheaper than we did before we paid high prices for making up. Good Tweed and Serge Suits, $25.

Irish Tweeds, $27, $28, $30 and $32. If any other tailor in town will prove that these goods are not genuine Irish Tweeds we will donate a Thousand Dollars to any charitable institution that he may name.

Black worsted suits $40. You will get the same goods for $48 or $50 elsewhere. We intend to make a specialty of tweed suits for $30; regular price is $35 to $40. We have the store for our other business; it costs us nothing for the tailoring department; we have the stock; we have a first-class cutter, and we have capital enough to run it if we don't make a cent. So now is the time to get cheap suits to order.

We are going through the stock marking everything down. Don't take everything for granted. See our new schedule of prices.

LET THEM REAP AS THEY HAVE SOWN.

Messrs. PRIOR and EARLE in behalf of the British Columbia Cattle Company, have asked for the remission of the import tax on 10,000 sheep. Ten thousand sheep on the American side are worth $20,000, and as this is about the figure they would pass the custom house at, the duty on them would be $6000. These same sheep, however, once on this side of the line are worth something like $50,000, "on foot." Mutton is selling at 17 cents per pound. Allowing the weight of a dressed carcass to be 50 pounds, we have a value of $8.50, and if we add to this the value of the pelt and wool we shall have, say, an additional $1.50. Hence, this band of sheep, sold at retail, will bring approximately $100,000. But the sheep in question are "stock sheep?" we hear somebody say. Granted; but that is no argument against the payment of the duty. The product of this particular band of sheep will be valuable, and since the consumer will not get his mutton one cent the cheaper by the remission of the duty, the prayer of Messrs. PRIOR and EARLE should not be granted. What is sauce for the consumer ought to be sauce for the dealer. If we are going to have National Policy let us have it. The British Columbia Cattle Company doubtless voted for it. Let the Company now swallow a dose of its own medicine, and thank heaven that the opportunity is afforded them to contribute to the Tory bribery fund. We conclude that if Messrs. PRIOR and EARLE are as prone to break the Ten Commandments as they are the commandments of National Policy, they will be in a bad fix on the day of reckoning.

THE FUTURE WHEAT SUPPLY.

C. WOOD DAVIS, in the Arena, predicts that inside of five years the United States will have become a buyer instead of a seller of wheat. The following deductions from the situation have brought him to this conclusion. The annual consumption is augmented by more than 8,000,000 bushels, while the wheat growing area in 1890 is no larger than it was in 1880. The present excess one year with another is 70,000,000 bushels. Now it would take more than eight years for the home demand to overtake the supply, but Mr. DAVIS reckons on a decrease of supply in consequence of the exhaustion of the soil. Turning to Europe Mr. DAVIS finds the annual wheat deficit to be 200,000,000 bushels, with a greater deficiency in the future, population at the same time increasing. To supply this deficit Europe imports 70,000,000 bushels from the United States and Canada, 30,000,000 from India, and 30,000,000 from South America, Australia and other countries. The supply, therefore, is 70,000,000 less than the present need. Where is Europe to get this 70,000,000 bushels? Mr. DAVIS does not think the Indian product will be increased but looks for larger supplies from South America and Canada. The moral of the thing is, freeze on to the wheat lands; they will be valuable a few years hence.

RECALL HIM.

Under the above heading the St. Paul Pioneer Press discusses the case of Consul EWING. Says the Free Press:

The United States consul at Vancouver appears to be an unmitigated ass. There are enough of this sort of people in the service of other governments just now, so that we can well spare any of our own. The time has passed when this country needed or desired to assume towards other nations the "trid-on-the-tail-of-me-coat" attitude. We are not obliged to maintain the position of bumptious self-assertiveness which brought much criticism and deserved ridicule upon us in the days when we felt that we had to give concrete evidence in some way that a citizen of the United States is just as good as any crowned head, and mostly a great deal better. * * * Anyone who has happened to be in Canada on "Dominion day," corresponding to our Fourth of July, and seen every hack carrying the American flag on one lamp and the Union Jack on the other, while the stars and stripes were just as prominent in the general decoration as the insignia of Great Britain, is forced to the conclusion that the people are less sensitive on these points than we would be under similar circumstances. That a representative of ours should, on an occasion like the arrival of the new China steamships, offend these kindly people by attending the festivities only to assert a raw and spurious sort of surface patriotism is far from pleasant to us. It is clear that our consul at Vancouver needs some employment more suited to his peculiar temperament.

MR. CHARLTON'S OPINION.

Mr. CHARLTON, in his address on the reply to the Speech from the Throne, took up the question of loss of revenue under reciprocity. This is how he put it:—

"The loss would be $8,220,000, and he would make it up in this way: Last year there was a surplus of $3,885,000 over the expenditure. The amount of the list of controllable expenditures might be reduced, as it had been under the administration of the hon. member for East York. This reduction might give $1,700,000 at least, probably more, with reciprocity and with the removal of all danger of dissensions over trade questions. The militia expenditure might be reduced $750,000. Another $700,000 might be cut out of the public works expenditure. The sugar duties might be rearranged so that without increasing the price to the consumer some of the duties might be diverted from the maws of the refineries to the Government. From this source a million and a quarter might be made. The Intercolonial and Prince Edward Railways might be made to pay or shut up—(some members, laughing, "order, order")—and thus $650,000 would be saved. This gives a total of $8,500,000, or more than enough to make up the loss of revenue."

Touching the statement of Mr. FOSTER, that "unrestricted reciprocity plus commercial union would lead to annexation," he asked:

"Why should it? The hon. Minister did not make it clear. If reciprocity were not advantageous to the people of Canada would they want to perpetuate it by annexation? The hon. Minister had conceded the value reciprocity would be by saying the country would, by means of it, become enamoured of its fruits, and seek to perpetuate them. There was nothing in the history of the country to warrant the statement that full commercial relations would lead to annexation. On the contrary, history showed that annexation sentiment was destroyed thereby. There was no reason for saying that commercial relations were incompatible with separate autonomy."

And as Mr. CHARLTON looks at it, so do all men whose judgment is not befogged by their prejudices

WINE AND WIT.

The proverb has it, that when the "wine is in the wit is out." But most people must have observed that the wit seems to come with the wine. Moderate partakers, at meals, for instance, regard themselves and each other brighter, happier, wittier than they were while waiting for some late guest, or while trying to find a topic which may interest a fair neighbor. ANDREW LANG is of opinion, however, that the appearance is illusive, and instances dreams where all our powers are more active than the power of judgment and of self-control. In our dreams we commit all manner of crimes gaily. It is only when we are waking up that remorse sets in. LANG cites a case of his own, in which he dreamed of having murdered a "tiresome old gentleman." His first impulse was to leave for a land where there was no extradition, when he began to feel remorse, and concluded to surrender himself and plead insanity. He then woke. Judgment and reason had been struggling for their rights, and had come to what would have been a specious conclusion Hence, it would appear, that the wit that comes with wine is not really wit at all, but is taken for wit in the brief and unobserved slumber of our judgment. This is the opinion of a German physiologist. He declares that alcohol does not stimulate but paralyzes. THACKERY, defending wine, remarks that it makes men "better, braver and wittier." THACKERY may have felt wittier at dinner, but that is where the illusion comes in.

We may be certain that few men—if any men at all—can write their best, or nearly their best, with wine busy in their brains. He who should try this, burns the candle at both ends, but without producing a brilliant illumination. Now, this is a very strong proof that the wit goes out when the wine comes in. Perhaps some scientific man of letters will try writing an article while he drinks a bottle of champagne, and, after reading it next morning, will tell us what he thinks of it. He will probably have to confess that the wit has been driven out by the wine, though it may have seemed very splendid while he was writing.

Exceptions are mentioned to the rule. SCHILLER is said to have drunk champagne while composing. There is not much of it in his work. BYRON said he "wrote 'Don Juan' on gin-and-water," but BYRON was notoriously fond of telling strange stories about himself.

The bill for the enfranchisement of women possessing the same qualifications that entitled men to vote was defeated in the Nova Scotia House of Assembly last week by 22 to 13.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Toronto Empire's Montreal correspondent, gives the official returns of the total number of votes for the Ministerial and Opposition candidates in each county of the Province of Quebec in the late general elections. According to the table, 104,933 votes were deposited for Government candidates and 97,825 for their opponents, leaving a total plurality in favor of the Ministerialists of 7,108.

For promptness and dispatch, commend us to the American navy. The Itata, presumably having broken the neutrality laws, steams out of the port of San Diego, despite the protests of a United States Marshal. A week later, or thereabouts, the Charleston warship is sent in pursuit of the neutrality-breaker The Charleston will be apt to catch her, the Itata having the difference in distance between San Francisco and San Diego, together with something like a week's steaming the start.

The three blustering "loyalists," PRIOR, EARLE and HELMCKEN, will not agree with the Review of Reviews when it says:

"It is never well, except in the last emergency, to convince one half of an electorate that the other half, composed of their neighbors, friends and relatives, are traitors to the Crown. No party advantage can adequately compensate for the shock which it gives to the fundamental principles of confidence and patriotism. And where, as in the present case, the party advantage has been very small, it is doubly doubtful whether Sir John Macdonald was well advised in branding the Opposition as traitors in posse if not in esse."

It is pretty nearly time the squirt and popgun warfare of the Colonist, which was adopted for Dominion election purposes, was stopped. Nothing is to be gained by the editor squirting tobacco juice across the Straits of Fuca at the present time. The campaign is over now, and if our contemporary will only "let up" on its bombardment, it will save us the pain of witnessing one column contradict another several times in the same issue. To publish in the same issue the scarifying article of the Post-Intelligencer on Consul EWING, and another article representing the people of the United States as hostile to us, and to denounce them for it, is to say the least slightly contradictory.

The impression seems to be that Madam BLAVATSKY is not dead but shamming. The newspaper skeptics hold that it is quite in line with her past career to simulate death that she may reappear a living testimony to the efficacy of her peculiar philosophy. But the probability is the Madam is dead. Past 60, broken in health, and the grippe in town, the chances are altogether in favor of her decease. That her death should have been kept a profound secret for three weeks is extraordinary. In all probability there is some diablerie on foot. We may look for the Madam's reappearance some of these days, that is somebody who will resemble her, and profess to speak with theosophic authority.

Australia has raised the voice of protest against any plan by Baron HIRSCH to colonize Russian Jews on that continent. Only a few weeks ago the Privy Council upheld the Australian law imposing a prohibitory tax on the admission of Chinese, and no doubt, should the Russian Jew problem be presented for solution, the Australians would be prompt and vigorous in disposing of it. It will strike the Czar as extremely funny that Englishmen protesting against his treatment of the Jews should decline to afford them a place of refuge. The fact is, that Englishmen like Russians are moved by what they regard considerations of self-interest without regard for the laws of humanity.

Lord Knutsford's policy of pressure is causing much dissatisfaction in Ceylon and the Straits Settlements. The Ceylon Independent, referring to the action of the Mauritius Council in regard to the military contribution for colonial defense, which was cut down considerably, declares: "Nevertheless, while liberal and loyal Ceylon has been severely punished, deprived in fact of all legislative freedom whatever, Mauritius has had a far more liberal constitution than we have ever enjoyed. If our influential men have any public spirit, such as our five ex-governors accredited them with, they would resent the insult that is thus put upon the colony and would refuse to have any part in the legislative sham, which not only deprives them of the rights and privileges enjoyed in other colonies, but exposes them to demands, like the one now exercising the public mind, that are unjust, oppressive and opposed to the progress of the island." Newfoundland evidently is not the only colony that demands greater concessions in the management of home affairs. In the past it was owing to the denseness of the Tories that England lost a loyal colony, that colony being the "thirteen colonies." Give Lord Knutsford all the rope he wants and England will again lose colonies.

Nature requires aid in correcting irregularities at this season, and for both men and women no other remedy equals Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a spring blood tonic. They are the generous gift of Mr. Dixon, of the Somerset House, who has great love and admiration for our park. The park committee have decided to construct a proper bear pit at once.

It Will "Lick Creation."

Mr. Bowden, representing Prof. Handon, of Hamilton, arrived last evening to arrange the setting up of the mottoes and general figures that are to be shown in the fireworks display on the 24th. Funeral of Miss Addie McConnell.

The funeral of the late Miss Addie McConnell took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large number of friends and relatives were in attendance and accompanied the remains to their last resting place. The funeral took place from the Gorge Road Church, and proceeded thence to Ross Bay Cemetery. Rev. G. H. White, pastor of Gorge Road Church, conducted the services.

Extended Their Premises.

Messrs. Cowan & Wilson, the well known wholesale provision merchants, have just completed a large additional wareroom, 40x80, to their already large premises. This gives a space of 100 square feet for storing goods, with no room to spare. The new addition, which is airy and cheerful, looking out on Yates street, will be used chiefly for heavier goods of a business which is rapidly extending.

Tourist Spoons and Opera Glasses.

Mr. A. A. Clayton, of the Diamond Palace, Government street, has now completed and ready for inspection, a large stock of tourist spoons, suitable for souvenirs of Victoria. In the bowls of the spoons are etched scenes of the Gorge, Dunsmuir Castle, Mount Baker, and other pictures of Victoria scenery. He has also just received a consignment of beautiful opera glasses, in pearl and Russia leather, which are pronounced the finest ever imported to this city.

Police Court News.

It was very quiet in police circles to-day, five dollars being the extent of the revenue. There were only two cases of drunks on the docket; one paid his fine of $5, and the other, not having the necessary chickamin, went up for one month.

Jimmy Chickens had not yet raised the money to pay his fine, but promised that it would be forthcoming in a few days.

The remanded case against Ah Chin for keeping a gambling house, was again up for hearing. After the hearing of another witness and a protracted discussion the case was postponed till to-morrow.

A Brief Meeting.

The Board of School Trustees held the regular monthly meeting last evening, Mr. Charles Hayward in the chair.

The secretary, Mr. Erskine, reported the school attendance during the month to be 1597, the highest number for any day in April, with an average daily attendance of 1,340.57, or an average of 59 scholars to each teacher.

The chairman announced that a friend had promised a microscope and some magnifying glasses as prizes at the coming examinations.

Some discussion ensued on the question of a gymnasium, but nothing definite was arrived at and the Board adjourned after a very brief session.

A Pretty Steamer.

Mr. W. J. Stephens has nearly completed the building of the pretty steamer for Richardson & Heathorn, and her graceful lines are creating considerable comment of a favorable nature among marine men. Her shaft will be put in to-day or to-morrow, when she will take to the water. Her machinery has left Toronto, and will be put in place as soon as possible after arrival. Mr. Stephens is waiting for her to be launched so that he may commence the construction of Mr. Sinclair's steamer which will be a sister boat to the present one except that it will be four feet longer. This will be the eighth steamer which Mr. Stephens will have turned out within the last 18 months.

OLD ORCHARDS.

How to Renew Them—Pointers For Owners of Trees.

A subscriber writes to the American Cultivator for information as to how to treat an "old and long neglected orchard." As fruit raising is attracting general attention in this province, and as, no doubt, there are neglected orchards here as elsewhere the following excerpts will not come amiss. "Old orchards," says the Cultivator, are apt to suffer most from lack of mineral manures, phosphate of potash. If only nitrogenous fertilizers are applied they will sometimes produce an exuberant leaf growth with comparatively little fruit. But if the soil have mineral elements in an insoluble condition, stable manures will put these in condition to be used. If the soil is heavy it has probably not been exhausted of potash, for where clay predominates the decrease of vegetable matter makes it cloudy so that even the tree roots do not enter.

* * * * * *

In any event, our correspondent's trees, having been neglected several years, ought not to be transplanted this season. Dig deeply about the roots in a circle around the tree, and fill in with rich earth or with the same soil well mixed with fine decomposed manure. Wherever the roots are cut off, as they will be by this deep culture, new roots will start, and by another spring this circle will be filled with a mass of fine roots, that will enable it to be transplanted without any danger of suffering. The tree may be grafted this spring, and then next year all the head excepting the graft may be cut away. The tree will then, except in trunk, be not much larger than one from the nursery; but if properly managed, it will come into bearing much sooner, as it should, for in labor and manure it will have cost more than the money price of nursery stock.

* * * * * *

If the orchard has been long uncultivated, the first plowing should be light. Most of the roots of untilled orchards run near the surface, and if left long untilled many of them are very large. If the trees make a vigorous growth after cultivation, it shows that the soil is yet in good condition, and less manure will be needed. Whenever deeper plowing is attempted the top should be pruned to correspond with mutilation of the roots, and on an old orchard neither plowing or pruning is advisable while the tree is in leaf. Cutting back either root or top does no harm while the tree is dormant, provided good clean cuts are made, but in plowing orchards long, irregular tearing of the bark of roots is common, and this is a most frequent cause of suckers springing up a few feet from the tree, or sometimes on the trunk, and which are a serious trouble. Take an axe when plowing, and cut the tree root square of wherever it is mutilated. In most cases the part farthest from the tree can then be pulled out, so as to prevent sprouts springing up from buds it may contain.

Curious Facts.

A chemist says that water cress contains sanitary qualities. A curious characteristic of it is that if grown in a ferruginous stream it absorbs five times the amount of iron than any other plant does.

Among the recent inventions is a calendar that will register for the next 200 years, besides telling any date figure within that period. A gum moistening apparatus for postage stamps is also an invention.

Ornithologists tell us that when feeding the stride of the ostrich is from 20 to 22 inches; when walking, but not feeding, 26 inches, and when terrified, from 11½ to 14 feet, or at the rate of about 25 miles an hour.

Professor Zebulon Fowler, of Tennessee, thinks that the Gulf stream every day passes through thousands of miles of a subterranean channel that is surrounded by a living fire. Fowler's solution is a powerful one.

The "Sabbath day journey" of the Jews was 2000 yards. This was the traditional distance from the end of the ark of the covenant to the end of the Israelites' camp when they were in the wilderness where the Sabbatical law was given.

UNDER THE MICROSCOPE.

Inhabitants of a Drop of Water Described by a Red-Nosed Man.

"You asked me the other day why I entertained such a prejudice against water," said a gentleman with a toddy-blossom on the end of his nose to a Washington Star reporter. "If you will kindly gaze through this microscope I shall be able to explain without having recourse to wordy argument. I will take a drop of water from the tap here at the washstand. There! You observe I let it fall upon this little piece of glass. It is ready now for examination under the instrument, which I adjust to a high power. Let us see if, in swallowing this pure Potomac fluid which the people of Washington are obliged to consume, they do not imbibe very many extraordinary and uninviting creatures. Let us turn the reflector a little. Now there is a cheerful specimen right in the field of vision. Apply your eye to the microscope and drink him in, in imagination. Isn't he lovely?

"That, my dear sir, is a beast known scientifically as the 'bosmina longirostris.' The latter part of its name signifies long-beaked. Observe the coquettish pose of its hind leg. You drink lots of those fellows every day at meals.

"Let me move the glass a trifle, so as to bring into view another part of the drop. There are two rather unpleasant-looking fellows for you.

"That wormlike one, which you see squirming around in a transparent sac as if anxious to get out, is called an 'augulua.' 'Cyclops' is the name of the other, which resembles a young six-legged baby somewhat, I think. It is young, too, being newly hatched; but it will grow much bigger, which is a comfort. You yourself consume ever so many such.

"But look here! Now that I have moved the glass a trifle the other way, I have brought into view still another part of the drop, in which you may see cavorting the 'cyclops quadricornui,' so-called because it is a one-eyed monster, with four horns and ten legs. Take a look at him.

"I won't bore you with any more just now, but I could show you more than two hundred species of microscopic creatures in the water, each of them with a scientific name of its own. I might mention, for example, the vorticella of formidable jaws; the clostorium, precisely the shape of a pair of cow's horns; several species of hydra, with waving tentacles; and the 'amphora gigas' in the shape of an ornamental letter O. There are no end of things which these creatures imitate in form. One looks like a fish, but is not. Another resembles a broom, still another a coal scoop, and so on ad infinitum.

"Now, it is all very well for persons who are not acquainted with these things to drink water, but a microscopist like myself ought to know better. And when you consider the disease germs, like those of typhoid, which are so apt to haunt this fluid, you cannot but realize the desirability of avoiding it as I do."

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the replies will be positive in its favor. One has been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia, another finds it indispensable for sick headache, others report remarkable cures of scrofula, salt rheum, etc. Truly, the best advertising which Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsment of its army of friends.

DOUBTFUL BRIDEGROOMS.

Brides Are More Self Possessed Than Their Partners in Facing the Minister.

Ministers declare that in nine cases out of ten brides are much more self possessed than are bridegrooms when the marriage ceremony is being performed.

A shy, modest looking little creature robed in white will stand perfectly erect, looking the minister calmly and squarely in the eye without for an instant losing her self poise, while the big, blunt six-footer of a bridegroom by her side is pale and nervous and trembling. His fingers are likely to twitch nervously and he may even hitch at his trouser legs or twist a corner of his coat skirt.

I was once "best man" to a stalwart, middle-aged bridegroom, noted for his courage and feats of daring, says a writer in the Philadelphia Call, and when the time came for us to go downstairs to meet the bride and her attendants he nearly had a fit, and he looked like a walking corpse all through the ceremony. I had to keep saying: "Brace up, old boy," and "Come, come, you've got to go down," to get him started at all, and at the door he was idiotic enough to clutch at me and say:

"Say, Fred, how would it do to have Mary and the preacher slip in here and have it all over with before we go down at all? I can't go through it before all that crowd."

"Idiot!" I said briefly and pointedly enough to leave no doubt as to my meaning. "Mary won't come in here and you will go down this instant."

He got through at last without doing or saying anything ridiculous, in which respect he was luckier than another stalwart bridegroom of my acquaintance, who was so dazed and overcome that he held out one of his own fingers for the ring when the minister said: "With this ring I thee wed."

Another bridegroom I know lost his head to such a degree that when it came time for him to say: "I, Horace, take thee, Annie, to be my lawful wedded wife," he said, in an unnaturally loud tone: "I, Annie, take thee, Horace, to be my lawful wedded wife," and when the time came for him to introduce his bride to some of his friends who had not yet seen her he did it by saying, awkwardly: "Ah, er—Miss Carter, this is my wife, Miss Barton," calling her by her maiden name.

Few men say "my wife" easily and naturally the first time they use the words in public.

A funny case was that of a badly-rattled bridegroom who stared blankly at the minister until asked if he took "this woman to be his lawful wedded wife," when he started suddenly and hastily, and said, in the blandest manner:

"Ah! beg pardon, were you speaking to me?"

A village preacher says that he once married a rural couple at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of a large company of invited guests. The bridegroom was a big, bony, red-faced young fellow who looked as though he could have felled an ox with his fist; but he shivered and turned pale at the beginning of the ceremony, and at its close he fell down in a dead faint, to the manifest annoyance of his bride, who had been as cool as a cucumber throughout the ceremony.

SPECIALIST OR SMATTERER?

Does It Pay to Take Up a Special Line of Professional Work.

We often hear it said of a dabbler in music, or in art, or in science: "Oh, she only knows enough of that thing to talk about it!" and the words imply a sneer. From one point of view it is a trivial attainment, and perhaps the sneer is deserved if the knowledge has been acquired simply to furnish a subject of conversation, although to be conversant with even the jargon of a study is better than to remain totally ignorant concerning it. Besides, she who knows the terminology of music or art sufficiently to talk about either intelligently can hardly fail to pick up scraps of information occasionally. The very fact that a woman has cared enough for a topic to induce her to trouble herself to learn its phrases, argues the possibility of her appreciating further knowledge, says Harper's Bazar.

After all, the matter resolves itself into the question: For what purpose is study, general or particular, pursued? Is it not to widen the views, to strengthen the mind, to deepen the sympathies? Cannot these objects be as well achieved by general as by particular reading or study? Since one cannot go to the bottom of everything, can she not be well enough educated to gain enjoyment for herself and others by taking such selected knowledge as comes in her way? It is not necessary to be an Italian scholar to be able to read and appreciate the "Inferno," nor need one know Greek before she can become familiar with the "Iliad." Translations, collations and anthologies are meant for the help of those whose other duties preclude their going to the fountain head for their instruction and their enjoyment.

As the travel of current thought is toward specialties, let the young student just equipping for her life's work fit herself for labor after the fashion of the day. But the general reader whose opportunities for work have been limited need not despise her scattered knowledge. She possesses the advantage usually of having her capital available. She can utilize her information in her writing and in her conversation after a fashion that is both helpful and entertaining to those with whom she is thrown. It may be debated, indeed, whether the general reader, the general student, does not do more to benefit and delight her kind at large than does the specialist who limits herself to one or two branches of study, who never reads a book that does not touch upon her specialty, who can discuss nothing but her hobby, and who too often makes a bore of herself to all but a few sympathizers. The one-ideaed woman has her uses, and they are important, but may not as much be claimed for her who is forced by events and environment to be a smatterer?

CANADIAN NEWS.

Items of Interest Received by Telegraph From all Over the Dominion.

Senator Leonard is seriously ill at his residence in London, Ont., and but slight hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The police at Swift Current, N.W.T., have possession of and destroyed about 200 pounds of opium which arrived here on the 10th inst., consigned to J Harris.

Geo. Gregory, of St. Catherines, Ont., jumped from an upper window in his father's residence, alighted on his head, and died in a short time. He was deranged.

The fishery troubles in Newfoundland are driving the natives away at a rapid rate. Last night the Carthaginian brought to Halifax no less than 235, who have grown tired of the situation down there, and who are off for the United States.

A dispatch to Halifax from St. John, N.F., says that the legislature has passed resolutions that it will adopt such legislation as may be necessary to carry into effect the proposals made to the Imperial government and parliament by the delegates now in London.

The Toronto Globe's Washington correspondent says the Attorney-General has furnished the Secretary of the Treasury with an opinion that it is entirely within the power of the Secretary of the Treasury to withdraw the privilege of sealing cars by consuls on Dominion soil, containing merchandise from Asia or Europe and destined for importation into the United States, without a violation of the treaty of Washington. The correspondent adds that unless President Harrison, upon his return, shall look on the matter from a different point of view from Secretary Foster, the consular sealing privileges will be withdrawn during the month, as at first indicated by Secretary Foster.

Donald Notes.

May 10—Fine summer weather prevails. No. 1 train was 12 hours late yesterday. The C. P. R. have built the largest platform this side of Winnipeg at Donald; 11 passengers coaches can now stop alongside of the depot and the boys can have a 100-yard foot race on it. Quality Hill is now commencing to look quite grand. Three prisoners are at work getting out stumps and planting small trees about the new court house.

Assistant Superintendent Beasley's house is about finished on the hill, and looking very nice. It is believed the wedding bells will ring for him next month.

The Rev. Keem left last week for a trip to Nelson, on church business. The Rev. Mr. Forbes conducted the church of England services Sunday.

GOLDEN, B.C.—Mr. Alexander is calling for tenders to build two fine residences at Golden, to be built on the Golden Smelter townsite. Some contractors and carpenters have gone up to see the plans, and may be tender for them.

Mr. Alex. Reid, is out with some three or four men cutting a Government trail up the Bluewater from Donald. Some capitalists are waiting to see it finished to go up and see some mineral claims, which if the specimens that have been brought in are a fair sample, will prove a first class mining camp.

Miss Lawrence of Donald, who was so badly hurt last winter on the toboggan slide is out on the streets again, looking none the worse for her accident, but a little pale.

C.P.R. Roadmaster Mr. Newman and family who have been residing at Roger's Pass all winter are back in town.

The bachelor's ball held on the 6th inst. was a success, with friends from Golden to help them out until 3 o'clock in the morning; when after refreshments the people from Golden got a freight train at 4 o'clock back home.

11th inst—Ice made last night, as thick as a common window glass, in a water bucket outside.

Telegraphic Briefs.

The Swedish bark Helga has been wrecked off the Nova Scotia coast, and all were lost but one sailor.

A telegram from Lisbon contains the information that a widespread panic prevails throughout Portugal.

Thirty-five thousand men are out on strike in Charlevor District, Belgium, and several large iron works are closed for want of fuel.

The Czar is greatly incensed over the action of the Rothschilds in withdrawing from the Russian loan. It is believed that it will make the position of the Jews worse.

Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States, has rendered a decision affirming the judgment of the lower court, and the sentence of death by electricity against Wood, Smiler and Slocum will be carried out.

The Czar of Russia has ordered the Jewish banker Ginsburg to quit St Petersburg for making an attempt to influence the Minister of the Interior to ameliorate the condition of the Jews by offering 1,000,000 roubles to charities.

The Italian consul at New Orleans has been notified to return home in order to furnish the Italian Government with an exact account of the events which have taken place since the murder of Chief Hennessey. Vice-Consul Porma will act in the interim.

Mothers!

Castoria is recommended by physicians for children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mothers' friend. 35 doses, 35 cents.

Still It's Nice to be Rich.

George M. Pullman, the possessor of $50,000,000, recently said to a correspondent, when asked how it feels to be a millionaire: "I have never thought of that. But now that you mention it I believe that I am no better off—certainly no happier—than I was when I didn't have a dollar to my name and had to work from daylight until dark. I wore a good suit of clothing then, and I can wear only one suit now. I relished three meals a day then a good deal more than I do three meals a day now. I had fewer cares; I slept better, and I may add, generally, that I believe I was far happier in those days than I have been many times since I have became a millionaire. And yet it is a comfortable feeling to be rich."

Methodist District Meeting.

In addition to the business already published of the Methodist District meeting yesterday, the following elections were made, too late for publication, on the several conference committees: Stationery, Rev. McLellan; delegates to the Annual Conference, Messrs. D. Spencer, A. J. McLellan, S. Gough, R. Booth, J. Haggart, Wm. McKay, Noah Shakespeare and J. E. McMillan.

The next district meeting will be held at Nanaimo.

THE ABOVE WORK IS THE OUTCOME of the recent Moral Reform Movement which took place in the Capital City of British Columbia, and which played such an prominent part in the late Municipal Elections held there. The author discusses the various phases of the question, and has endeavored to deal with the subject in a manner that will be interesting and some practical benefit to every reader into whose hands his book may fall. The position taken by the Ministers of the Christian Churches in regard to the Municipal Election above referred to is also fully dealt with, and although the criticisms may seem severe to some, the author hopes the conclusions drawn and the desire he has shown to do a service, no matter how slight it may be, to the weak and fallen, will meet with the approval of all lovers of justice and humanity.

WHARF AND WAVE.

Jottings of Interest to Marine Men Concisely Compiled.

There has been nothing done yet in the Pilot matter.

Bark Julie is discharging railroad irons into a scow to be taken to the Royal City Planing Mills.

All vessels clearing from the custom house will in future do so in the office of Mr. Fry, instead of in the Long Room.

Steamer Alert left with men and building material this morning for Darcy Island, where the house for the Chinese lepers will be built.

Steamer Western Slope doesn't look the good old steamer she has been. She is all dismantled for the purpose of being transformed into a coal barge, a purpose for which her strongly constructed hull admirably adapts her.

PERSONAL.

Movements of Well Known People in Various Directions.

E. V. Bodwell returned last evening from Vancouver.

Thomas R. Smith, Hudson Bay Commissioner, is able to be in his office again. Mr. Smith has had a severe struggle, but is nearly well and will seek change of air at Harrison Hot Springs next week.

Harry Heywood, who arrived from Rock Creek on Monday, reports bright prospects at the Laura hydraulic mine. There will be no wash-up for a month or two, when the results are expected to be very satisfactory. Mr. Heywood left again this morning for the mine, going via Spokane.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

AUCTIONEERS

Have received instructions from the PUGET'S SOUND AGRICULTURAL COMPANY to sell by

PUBLIC AUCTION

—ON—

To-morrow, May 14th

AT 12 O'CLOCK NOON,

At their Salesrooms, Wharf street, a number of plots of land located at the Puget's Sound Agricultural Company's Land at MACAULEY POINT, the finest and best situation for residences adjacent to VICTORIA, the rapidly growing Queen City of the Pacific, and undoubtedly the most desirable place in which to live on the Coast.

VIEWFIELD

forms the Western Shoreline of Victoria Harbor, commencing at the Southern boundary of C Battery Barracks, and extends along the entire water front to the South and West of Section No. 24. It contains in all about 200 acres suitably subdivided into plots of land of about an acre, more or less. The shoreline itself is of the most charming description, being a succession of indentations, bays, and points intersected with smooth, sandy beaches, affording facilities for bathing, fishing, boating and the various other pleasures of the Sea Shore to an extent seldom met with.

VIEWFIELD bears favorable comparison with BEACON HILL, the pride and joy of every Victorian. The soil is similar, and there are the same stretches of lawn-like pasture land, with occasional clumps of trees so enchanting to residents and visitors.

VIEWFIELD, however, surpasses Beacon Hill in its views of the STRAITS OF FUCA, UP SOUND, and the lovely SNOW-CLAD OLYMPIC MOUNTAINS. It moreover possesses an additional charm in that a truly grand view of the City of Victoria is obtained.

VIEWFIELD has been laid out in convenient subdivisions; is traversed by well made roads 60 feet wide, drained by ditches on either side; and is but a short distance from Victoria City boundary.

VIEWFIELD has easy communication with Victoria by means of the National Electric Tramway Company's cars, which pass the approach to the property from the Esquimalt Road.

VIEWFIELD is not subject to the prevailing western winds, Albert Head acting as a wind-break; and is confidently expected to become one of the most fashionable residential localities.

VIEWFIELD has the advantage of the Esquimalt Water Works system from which it can be supplied with the best and purest water on the coast, under good pressure.

BUILDINGS—To induce the building of good residences the Company offer a bonus of 20% of the sale price of each lot to the first ten purchasers who shall within 12 months erect houses costing not less than $4000 each. Plans to be approved by their agent in Victoria, Mr. Thomas R. Smith.

The proposed extension of the Northern Pacific Railway to Victoria cannot fail to greatly increase the value of this property.

The following subdivisions have been selected, and will comprise the sale of the 14th of May, namely—

BLOCK V—Nos. 14, 15 and 16.
BLOCK XI—Nos. 3, 4, 8, 9 and 30.
BLOCK XII—Nos. 8, 11 and 14.
BLOCK XV—Nos. 9, 11 and 13.
BLOCK XVI—Nos. 3, 5, 7 and 9.
BLOCK XVII—Nos. 1, 3, 10 and 12.
BLOCK XVIII—Nos. 1, 5, 7 and 8.
BLOCK XIX—Nos. 4, 6, 11 and 13.
BLOCK XX—Nos. 1, 3, 4 and 5.
BLOCK XXI—Nos. 1, 3 and 6.
BLOCK XXII—Nos. 7, 10 and 12.

Notices have been placed on each lot in order that the public may readily see which are to be offered at auction.

Full particulars of sale will accompany the lithographed maps, which will be ready for delivery on Saturday morning, 9th May.

The terms for payment are ⅓ cash; ⅓ in one year; and the balance in two years; interest on deferred payments at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum. Deeds at purchaser's expense.
